The future of the EURO

*€75

Course Type: Evening Workshop

Dates: 1st December 2011

Duration: 14:30 - 17:45 with a 15 minute coffee break

Code: EVG-4/MC/EIE/EURO

Course Brief

Milton Friedman had predicted that the Euro will not survive the first big recession. Events may yet prove him to be right unless the political will to save the Euro is backed by substantial adjustment process for both deficit and surplus countries. 2011 may be the year when Friedman's prediction will be really tested. Are we heading for a Euro implosion as member countries start deserting it, an explosion if the tensions building inside it remain unaddressed or a true solution which would underline the political commitment to save the Euro and enhance its credentials as an alternative reserve currency to the US Dollar?
